Be sure to check your school's plan for students returning to class as COVID-19 protocols vary depending on where you live and your child's grade. By approaching back-to-school with a plan, you will know ahead of time what supplies are needed to accommodate students' learning in the classroom, at home, or a combination of both.

While you're completing your back to school shopping, consider how else to prepare your child for class. If you feel your child can benefit from some extra help to make this school year as successful as possible, consider tutoring to support. Scholars Education offers educational programs with qualified and experienced tutors who are ready to guide students through all areas of the K-12 curriculum and get results that matter.
